

Special Angel

The children on our street have brightened our days many times this past year. A few weeks ago, one of them saw Amanda's web site and her Mom read her the poem "She Helps the Kids".

Her response was beautiful, and of course, made me cry. She said "Oh Mummy, Dave and Lynn are so lucky. They have their very own special angel in heaven with Jesus".

Out of the mouths of babes; how simple and less painful life would be if we could all accept this concept. I try to remind myself of her words whenever I am having a bad day.

Thank you dear children, Amanda is indeed our very own "Special Angel".
