

How Much More?

*Heavenly Father up above
How much more did I have to love?
How much more did I have to prove?
Heaven and Earth I would have moved
Why did you call my child from me?
What is it that I have to see?
She never caused you any pain
Why couldn't things remain the same?
Darkness settled on my day
All I want is to run away
Far, far away and hide
Let no one see the tears I've cried
Who will knock upon my door?
And free my soul forever more
In my heart I know it's true
This broken world sent my child to you
You were there with arms, warm and wide
Saying, "welcome child, please come inside
Stay with me, leave the door ajar
Your family won't be too far
In another world, they wait for you
Hoping one day to join you too
But while you wait, I'll hold you tight
Beside them, but just out of sight
Give them a sign, they will know you care
You are always beside them waiting there"*
